

Cookie Policy for Websites of Neutrik Group

1. What are cookies?

Cookies are small text files that enable the web server to recognize a website visitor, information about the visited websites are stored in the web browser. Cookies can be divided into "session cookies" and "persistent cookies". Session cookies are all those cookies that expire when a session is closed, i.e., they are only stored for the duration of the session. Persistent cookies, on the other hand, store the information collected over a longer period. Cookies can be set by website providers but also by third parties.

We may store cookies on your browser if they are necessary for the operation of the website. For all other categories of cookies, we need your consent.

2. We use cookies

Our websites use cookies to ensure that you get the best experience on our website. We may store cookies on your device if they are necessary for the operation of our sites (necessary cookies). For all other cookies we need your consent, which you can give or withdraw at any time via our cookie banner.

For the data protection compliant processing of cookies, we use a tool from Cookie Hub.

- Necessary cookies
Some cookies are required to provide core functionality. This website will not function properly without these cookies and they are enabled by default.
- Analytical cookies
Analytical cookies help us to improve our website by collecting and reporting information about your usage.
- Marketing Cookies
Marketing cookies are used to track visitors to websites so that publishers can serve relevant ads.

You can change or revoke your cookie settings at any time on our website.

3. Cookie settings in your browser

If you wish to prevent cookies from being stored, you can set your browser to accept cookies only if you agree to this. Since the way cookies are managed depends on your browser, you will find further instructions on how to use them here:
